PLAINTIFF WHO PROTECTED HIS FAMILY'S NAME

IMPORTANT WITNESS MISSING.

INSURANCE COMPANIES TO CARRY THE BURDEN

A protracted lawsuit in the course of which the plaintiff, Mr. Choa Po-sien, was described by his counsel, Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., to have acted throughout in "the fairest manner in his experience," came to an end in the Supreme Court this morning, before the Chief Justice, (Sir J. H. Kemp), when defendants withdrew from the action.

Defendants were the Equitable Eastern Banking Corporation, who were resisting an application for redemption of certain securities deposited by plaintiff against an overdraft. The bank had asserted that they were legally entitled to reverse certain credit entries made in the account, thus showing a debit balance of $515,176, against plaintiff's computation of $139,236.82.

AGREEMENT ARRIVED AT

At the commencement of proceedings this morning, Mr. H. G. Sheldon, for defendants, said that the hearing would not take up much of the Court's time. As a result of conversations between the parties earlier in the morning certain terms had been arrived at, which would be explained by Mr. Potter later. As a result, defendants would ask leave to withdraw from the action.

At a later stage Mr. Potter explained the terms, which were that the offer of Mr. Choa to pay the sum of $139,000 odd, his computation of the amount due, had been accepted by the bank. The securities would be returned to him. Mr. Choa had also agreed to waive his costs, not wishing to take advantage of the fact of the other side's frank admission that they could not go on, owing to the departure from the Colony of one of their essential witnesses.

In the result, His Lordship ordered that there should be redemption by consent. Plaintiff would have the right of return of his securities upon payment of the sum of $139,236.82. There would be no order as to costs.

Insurance Companies Involved.
Mr. Sheldon, following his intimation of withdrawal, said that there were certain facts he would like to explain. The unfortunate litigation, which had been carried on for some time, had been undertaken by the Equitable Eastern Banking Corporation for the benefit of certain insurance companies by whom the bank was fully indemnified for any loss incurred up to the neighbourhood of $2,000,000. The insurance companies were the people who would lose as a result of the frauds on the bank.

"It was therefore the duty of the officers of the bank to do all they could in order to protect the interests of the insurance companies," counsel added.

Missing Witness.

Continuing, Mr. Sheldon explained that about two weeks ago the position in the case, from the bank's point of view, changed substantially. A man named Li Chung-tai, who was the shroff of the fraudulent compradore during the period in which the defalcations took place, had hurriedly left the Colony a day or two before the hearing was first due.

Li Chung-tai was the man who actually received the moneys paid in to the compradore, and he was in charge of the cash in the compradore's hands. "It was obvious, therefore, that he was an essential witness from the point of view of the bank," counsel went on. "He had in fact sworn a statutory declaration, and was to have been called to give evidence."

Regarding plaintiff's position, Mr. Sheldon said, "There is, of course, no suggestion from me that plaintiff knew of, or did anything whatsoever, in connection with the disappearance of this man."

An examination of the evidence available to the bank had, just been made, and in the absence of Li Chung-tai it had been decided to withdraw the action, on cer-

STONE THROWN AT 'BUS WINDOWS.

Inexplicable Conduct of An Apprentice.

DRIVER DUCKS.

Leung Kui, a Chinese apprentice turner employed at the Kowloon-Canton Railway workshops at Hunghom, appeared in the Kowloon Police Court this morning charged with wilfully damaging two panes of glass, to the extent of $6, on a motor bus belonging to the China Motor Bus Company. The driver of the bus, No. 665, said that 12.10 p.m. on Saturday he was going in the direction of To Kwa Wan and when near the stopping place near the Club de Recreo in Gascoigne Road, the defendant raised his hand to stop the bus. As soon as the vehicle stopped, the defendant threw a piece of stone, almost the size of a brick, at him. He ducked and the stone went through two panes of glass at the side. He immediately got down and chased the defendant, who ran up King's Park, and arrested him.

Action Inexplicable.

The conductor of the bus supported this evidence, and said that he knew no reason for defendant's action.

The defendant alleged that he was acting as the peacemaker between the bus man and another man, and when he intervened, the man escaped and he was arrested and accused of breaking the glass. A fine of $40 was imposed or, in default, six weeks' imprisonment, and a further $10 was ordered to be paid as compensation to the owners of the bus.

OVERCROWDING.

TWO JUNK MASTERS FINED $100 EACH.

The masters of two trading junks were to-day charged before Comdr. J. B. Newill, at the Marine Court for carrying passengers in excess of the number allowed by their licences. They pleaded "guilty."

The first junk had 335 passengers, an excess of 157, and the other 447 passengers, an excess of 102.

It was stated that the junks were being towed by steam launches and were going to Chekwan, the passengers being pilgrims who were going to take part in the annual Tin Hau (Goddess of Mercy) festival. The defendants were each fined $100.

He was still anxious to keep his family's name out of the Courts, and said that what he would do was to pay over $139,236.82, the amount of his computation. Furthermore, in order to meet defendants in every way possible, he would forgo his costs.

"It was made clear to us this morning before coming into Court," said counsel, "that this action must be withdrawn by the other side. It meant that they would have to agree to dismissal, with costs for Mr. Choa. Nevertheless, Mr. Choa said he was still prepared to forgo his costs, not wishing to take advantage of the frank admission by the other side that they could not go on."

"Fair Play."

"In all my experience, I have known of no fairer manner of dealing," Mr. Potter added. "Mr. Choa wants to make it clear beyond all possibility of doubt that he could have done nothing more, and that by his conduct throughout the case he could not in any possible way be said to be responsible for the departure of the essential witness for the bank, Li Chung-tai."

Mr. Choa, Mr. Potter concluded, therefore would make the offer to pay the amount mentioned, asking for return of his securities. He would not ask for costs.

The Chief Justice, after consulting counsel for both sides, made the necessary order.

Counsel.
Counsel in the case were:—For plaintiff, Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., and Mr. F. C. Jenkin (instructed by Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Master); for defendants, Mr. H. G. Sheldon, (instructed by Messrs. Hastings, Denys and Bowley).

ROYALIST PLOT

NEWSPAPER CAUSE OF RIOTS.

STONED BY MOB

PROPRIETOR UNDER ARREST.

Madrid, Yesterday. The City is seething with excitement as a result of a squadron of troops being called out in consequence of collisions between Republicans and Monarchists on the occasion of the latter opening the electioneering campaign.

Offices Closed.
Two Republicans and one member of the Civil Guard were seriously injured when the Civil Guards fired on a crowd trying to wreck the offices of the Monarchist Daily "A.B.C."

RAIN AND FOG.

The Royal Observatory's weather report, to-day states: A depression is central over Tongking and an area of high pressure extends from N.E. China to the north of Japan. Local forecast:—E. winds, moderate; generally overcast; some rain and fog.

Rainfall.
Rainfall for 24 hours ended at 10 a.m. to-day—0.09 inch. Rainfall since January 1—14.97 inches against an average of 14.66 inches—surplus 0.31 inch.

Temperature.
The temperature at certain specified centres this morning at 6 o'clock was:—
Hong Kong... 73
Macao... 76
Pratas Island... 74
Manila... 79
Foonchow... 62
Chefoo... 47
Shanghai... 52

where a machine gun was reported to have been installed to repel possible invaders.

Subsequently the crowd angrily demonstrated before the Ministry of the Interior. The Minister himself addressed them and said that the Marquis Luca Detena, proprietor of the A.B.C., had been arrested and the offices of the A.B.C. sealed up.

The crowd then proceeded to the barracks of the Civil Guards, which they stoned.

Guard Open Fire.
The Civil Guards fired on a crowd, inflicting casualties, as the latter were attempting to storm and set fire to the office of the newspaper A.B.C.

No Prosecution.

Madrid, Saturday. It is announced that General Berenguer, who was arrested by the Republican Government on April 27, although he had made a declaration of submission to the new Government, will be released as the Supreme Court of War and Marine have rejected the application for authority to prosecute him.

Madrid, Yesterday. General Berenguer was released to-night.

More shooting, and the death of a man who was lynched by the mob outside the Ministry of Interior, were features of a night of fear and fury.

The crowd looted three armourers' shops in Calle de Toledo, and used the stolen arms to snipe at the Civil Guards. Then they marched back to the offices of the A.B.C., where they stoned fifty Civil Guards looking after the building.

The Civil Guards fired over the heads of the demonstrators, who stampeded, men cursing and women shrieking "assassins." Later there was more restless surging of the inflamed populace, but there seem to have been more barks than bites.—Reuter.

PRIESTS RESCUED.

Reuter is informed that the Procurator of the Spanish Dominican Mission in Hong Kong received a wireless message from Amoy this morning stating that Chinese Government soldiers had succeeded in rescuing Monsigneur Prat, Father Albino, two Chinese priests, and a seminarist.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE INVESTITURE.

Mr. E. W. Carpenter and the M.B.E.

CERTIFICATES OF HONOUR.

An impressive ceremony was enacted at Government House this morning when the investiture of several residents mentioned in the last New Year Honours was made by His Excellency the Governor.

His Excellency, addressing Mr. Carpenter, said:—
"Edgar William Carpenter, I am very glad that it has fallen to my lot to invest you to-day with the insignia of an Officer of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, which has been graciously conferred upon you by His Majesty the King in recognition of the valuable services rendered by you to this Colony."

You joined the Government Service in 1901, thirty years ago, as an assistant engineer of the Public Works Department. You were at one time seconded to the Kowloon Canton Railway and were specially thanked for your work in connection with the survey and commencement of the Tai Po Lo Fu section. You were in due course promoted to be an Assistant Director of Public Works, which position you now hold. You have on several occasions received the special thanks of Government, once for your report on the Pratas Islands in 1913 and again in 1922 for your work as Chairman.

CHEFOO NOTES.

RECEPTION IN HONOUR OF EMPEROR OF JAPAN.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Chefoo, May 1. In honour of H.M. the Emperor of Japan's birthday, Mr. G. Uchida, H.I.J.M.'s Consul at this port, gave a reception at the Consulate on April 29, which was very largely attended by Government officials, the members of the Consular body, Chinese and foreign merchants, and several missionaries. The toast of the day, wishing long life, health, and prosperity to His Majesty was proposed by the Consul, and replied to by General Han, General Liu Chen-nien's Chief of Staff, in the absence of the General, and was heartily responded to by all present. During the afternoon sports and games were arranged by the Consul for the junior members of the Japanese community, and as the weather was most favourable these were greatly enjoyed by the youngsters and their many friends.

Returning Home.
With deep regret we wished Mr. and Mrs. W. Turner farewell on the afternoon of April 29, when they sailed for Dairen en route for the Homeland via Canada. Mr. Turner, who is now retiring after many years of service with Messrs. Butterfield & Swire, Ltd., has during his residence here won the esteem of the whole community, while Mrs. Turner's gracious kindness in so many ways will be long remembered by us all.

A large gathering assembled on the Jetty to bid them God-speed, and to wish them both bon voyage and many years of good health to enjoy their well earned retirement in the Homeland.

Local Wedding.
On May 1 the wedding of Miss Frances H. Moore and Mr. Stanley G. Martin was celebrated in the C.I.M. Memorial Hall, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with plants and flowers. The Hall was well filled with the friends of the happy pair who afterward gathered at the Girls' School to offer their congratulations and best wishes. Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Martin left early in the afternoon for Wei-hai-wai, where the honeymoon is to be spent.

The Saskatchewan Power Commission is considering an addition of machinery to the Saskatchewan plant, to cost in the neighbourhood of $400,000. No additional buildings, however, will be required. Construction of additional transmission lines throughout the Saskatchewan district necessitated the enlargement of the plant.

DOLLAR LINER STRIKES A ROCK

MISHAP IN THICK FOG

VESSEL RIGHTED WITHOUT DAMAGE OR ASSISTANCE.

NOW AT KOWLOON WHARF

It is reported that whilst steaming toward Hong Kong shortly after five o'clock this morning, the Dollar Line's 14,000-ton liner, President Cleveland, came into collision with a rock just off the Waglan lighthouse.

There was a heavy fog prevailing at the time and it is thought that the vessel got off her course slightly in the narrow pass.

The liner is reported to be on her way to Hong Kong, having freed herself from the obstacle without having to call in assistance.

LOCAL SHIPPING FOG-BOUND

Dense fog hovered all along the coast this morning, holding up all shipping bound for Hong Kong. Bad conditions were encountered by the Dollar Line's 14,000-ton vessel, President Cleveland, as she was approaching Hong Kong on her way back from Manila, carrying passengers and mail.

The Cleveland was steaming slowly in the vicinity of Waglan Point when the accident occurred. The fog was so thick that it was impossible to see for more than a few yards ahead and the vessel may have been slightly off her regular course when she struck the rock.

The liner is advertised to sail from the Colony to-morrow at 4 p.m.

Another Ship Aground?
The s.s. Taiping, a 4,324-ton vessel owned by the Australian-Oriental Steamship Line, for which the local agents are Messrs. Butterfield and Swire, also struck a rock near Tamkan at 3.52 this morning.

Upon enquiry from the local agents, however, the China Mail was informed that no news has been received of any such mishap. The vessel has been delayed by the fog and, in consequence, will be a little late in arriving.

AMBULANCE LORRY FIRED ON.

Cowardly Action by Berlin Communists.

MISTAKEN FOR NAZIS.

Berlin, Yesterday.

Communists fired on a Red Cross lorry near Chemnitz to-day. One member of the Red Cross was killed and another seriously injured. Apparently the Communists mistook the Red Cross men, who were returning from field exercises, for Nazis, whom they met in the neighbourhood last night. The Police have arrested 150 Communists in connection with the affair.—Reuter.

EUROPEAN THROWN OUT OF SIDE-CAR.

Accident to Boy Near Repulse Bay.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

A motor accident, which resulted in injuries being sustained by a boy named Gilbert Budden, occurred on the Island Road at 2.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

The motor cycle, a combination, was being driven by Mr. W. A. Buckingham, of the Royal Naval Dockyard. When rounding a bend about 600 yards distant from Repulse Bay Hotel, the cycle overturned, throwing Master Budden out of the side car.

The lad received slight injuries to his head, and was taken to Victoria Hospital for treatment. His condition is not serious.

HIS JOB IS TO STUDY FACES.

Curious Research Work
by Scientists.
DIVING DEPTHS.

Few people realise the immense amount of research work that is being carried out by the Medical Research Council, not only at the National Institute at Hampstead and the farm laboratories at Mill Hill, but by means of grants to scientific workers at the universities and other centres throughout Britain.

Towards this work Parliament provides a grant-in-aid of £148,000 a year.

Nearly 30 different committees (writes an Evening News correspondent) are at work on special inquiries ranging from human nutrition to distemper in dogs, and radiology to face structure and what is known as "dead hand."

One interesting industrial inquiry is that into the strength of workers in various occupations.
Through facilities given by certain large firms and the trade unions concerned 10,000 men are being examined not only for general physique, as represented by anthropometric measurements, but also by tests of strength.

Gunnery Fitness.
Other tests are being carried out among men in the Navy, Army, and Air Force to estimate personal fitness for particular occupations, and study the human factors that make for proficiency in naval gunnery. Army signalling, tank work, and flying, as well as other specialised branches of the fighting Services.

In Professor G. Elliot Smith's department at University College, London, Dr. Matthew Young is studying the structure of children's faces; and at the Great Ormond Street Hospital the relation between different physical types of children and their liability to particular diseases.

Noise and vibration are known to have serious effects upon the nervous system of the workers, and many investigations are now centered on this problem. At Cambridge, the psychological effects upon workers in various selected tasks are being examined, and the Industrial Health Research Board are studying the use of "ear defenders" on the output of weavers working in a noisy shed.

There is also a Home Office inquiry into the effects of the "pounding-up" machines used in the boot and shoe industry in producing the condition known as "dead hand." Many shoemakers suffer from it.

Long Listeners.
Another investigation more or less associated with noise is that of Mr. F. C. Bartlett at Cambridge on the effects of long periods of listening upon the sense of hearing. This is of value in the selection and retaining of listeners for anti-aircraft defence, and may possibly prove of some importance to the vast army of listeners catered for by the B.B.C.

Sir Leonard Hill is applying the knowledge gained by experiments in breathing pure oxygen to the problems of diving at great depths —a subject which greatly interests the Deep Diving Committee of the Admiralty.

It was found during Sir Leonard's experiments that from one-third to one-fourth of the total nitrogen present in the body appears to be removed in the first five minutes of deep oxygen breathing, and this amount may be increased by exercise by a further 20 to 50 per cent.

The poisonous effects of oxygen at excessive pressure has long been under investigation, and consideration is now being given to the use of air partially deprived of oxygen for supply to divers under the high pressures caused by great depths.

Mountain Life.
Preliminary experiments have shown the possibility of exposing animals under these conditions, to pressures equivalent to a diving depth of 350 feet, and practical diving trials are being made.

Life at high altitudes has similarly been investigated by experiments on mice, which showed that they cannot live healthily after a month at an oxygen tension corresponding to a 20,000 feet altitude. Mice are more resistant to such changes than men, and the experiment strongly suggests a limit to possibilities of acclima-tisation at the high levels already reached by man for short periods for purposes of exploration.

MARRIAGE LAW IN INDIA.

Attempt to Nullify the Sarda Act.

ASSENT OF THE VICEROY.

Two Bills, intended to reform Hindu marriage laws, are to be introduced at the next session of the Assembly by Raja Bahadur G.
Krishnamachariar.

The first Bill, for the introduction of which the assent of the Viceroy has been obtained, is entitled "The Child Marriage Restraint (Amendment) Act, 1931."

The statement of objects and reasons appended to the Bill says:—

The object of the Bill is to exempt Brahmins, Vaishyas, Saurashtras and other communities, in which post-puberty marriage is forbidden by their religious usages or customs or both, from the operation of the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929, and thus allay to some extent the strong feeling which the provisions of the Act have, admittedly, engendered in the country. Among these communities what is generally regarded as marriage is an irrevocable betrothal with all the effects of a valid marriage.

The Garbhadhanam or consummation ceremony, which is performed when the girl and the boy begin to live as man and wife, is a distinct samskara and it can only be performed after the attainment of puberty by the girl, and never before that. Even then the Smritis and Grihya Sutras lay down strict rules for its performance.

The Shastras relating to marriage definitely prohibit post-puberty marriage (betrothal) in the case of the dwijas, under pain of severe penalties which could not be cured by any expiatory ceremonies. They further provide that it is essential that such marriage should, in the case of girls, be performed between the ages of eight and ten.

Penal Provisions.
It is a well-known and admitted fact that girls in North India attain puberty between the ages of twelve and thirteen, while in Madras and Bengal it very often occurs even one year earlier. Consequently, the provision in the Act making marriages below the age of fourteen years penal, irrespective of whether consummation does or does not take place, renders its performance among Hindus com-pulsorily post-puberty.

Such marriages being strictly forbidden (as stated above), the Act is a direct interference with the religious beliefs and observances of the Hindus, and is a clear violation of the solemn pledges of non-interference with religion made for over a hundred years.

It is, indeed, a clear declaration on the part of the Legislature and the Government that the Hindu community is no longer free to act up to its religious injunctions, except under the risk of being imprisoned, or deprived of its property.

The Legislative Assembly, composed of members of different creeds and faiths, and brought together for a purely secular purpose, was not competent to interfere with the personal law of one section of the community, where it is governed by religious injunctions and sanctions.

Age of Consent.
Indeed, the Age of Consent Committee admitted, though in a halting manner, that the Legislative Assembly was not representative enough to pass an Act of this nature, but felt itself justified in upholding its competence on the ground that there was no alternative body.

In this connection it is worthy of note that the minimum limit of fourteen years was fixed in the Act, not out of regard to any necessity to prevent the physical and moral deterioration of the Hindu community, as was stated to be the object of the Bill, and for which by the way, a limit of even eleven years was considered as a sufficient minimum, but as a price to purchase Mohammedan acquiescence in their inclusion within the scope of the Bill.

In order to further interest farmers in growing better cereal seed, the field crop division of the Department of Agriculture has secured a list of reliable varieties which are being sent upon application. This will be the last season to secure seed for sowing to compete in the World's Grain Exhibition to be held in Regina in 1932.

NAVY TO-MORROW.

SELF-SUPPORTING AND SELF-SUFFICIENT FLEET.

In my recently published book, "The Navy of To-day and To-morrow," I set out frankly to bury and not praise the naval doctrines of Lord Fisher.

In doing so I was careful to avoid any suggestion of a vendetta, or to deny that he was a towering, picturesque, and in many respects lovable man, writes Captain Bernard Acworth, R.N. (Ret.) in the Morning Post. Indeed, were it not for his great personality, and that alone, it is almost inconceivable that his revolutionary doctrine of sea-power could have carried the day and made mince-meat of the great traditional doctrine of British sea-power which had in 1904, raised the Royal Navy to a pinnacle of prestige unrivalled in the world's history, and never since attained.

There is not space, nor is this an occasion, for repeating the arguments in support of my contentions. Rightly or wrongly, I have condemned the majority of very modern ships and material, in all Navies, and the doctrines of war of which this vast, and excessively costly, material is the expression.

Traditional Doctrine.
That the adherents of Lord Fisher's school will continue to leave my case unanswered, as at present, seems unlikely, but in the absence, so far, of any adverse criticism, I will make so bold as to set down the classes of ships which we shall require in the coming years when our traditional doctrine of sea-power is re-established, and when the country has recovered its reliance on itself, and on the sea, for the maintenance of true peace as opposed to "peace-talk" and for defence, in the last extremity, against a hostile world.

The ships that I have foreshadowed as the ships of the future are as follows:

Battleships—12,000 tons, coal-burning, 17½ knots, heavily armoured, and mounting six 13.5-inch guns only.

Armoured Cruisers—12,000 tons, coal-burning 23½ knots, armoured, and mounting six 9.2-inch guns only.

Unarmoured Cruisers—4,000 tons, coal-burning, 27 knots, mounting six 6-inch guns only.

These vessels form the battle fleet, and from the battle fleet the torpedo is banished. Small submarines of 400 tons, for defence against landing in force or protracted bombardment, river gun-boats, and minesweepers, are retained as auxiliary craft, but aircraft carriers, surface torpedo craft, and battle-cruisers disappear.

The land-machines now transported in the aircraft carriers will become stout seaplanes carried, like sea-boats, in the ships of the fleet, the numbers carried, if desired, exceeding those now carried in the aircraft carriers.

The battleships are of the least tonnage that will ideally mount an ideal gun armament of 13.5-inch guns, a large fleet of small vessels being strategically and tactically superior to a small fleet of mastodons which cannot be equipped with heavy guns which are superior, on balance, to the 13.5-inch gun.

The armoured cruisers and unarmoured cruisers are given a speed relative to the battleships, regardless of the speed that foreign nations may see fit to install in their ships. Our battle fleet is thus a carefully balanced fleet designed with a single eye to the Navy's main business—the decisive defeat of the enemy's main fleet.

Competitive speed has been discarded. Though the main business of the cruisers is to assist in the action against the enemy's battle fleet, pending such an action they are required for blockade, and for the defence of convoys, and the cruisers advocated are ideal for this purpose.

Great Sea-Keeping Capacity.
We thus require no specialised vessels for trade defence or blockade purposes. We need, in the coming years, a large number of simple, well-armed and well-armoured vessels of moderate speed and great sea-keeping capacity. On the basis of our existing total tonnage we could have a fleet of the following composition:

| Battleships | 25 |
| Armoured Cruisers | 38 |
| Unarmoured Cruisers | 112 |
| Small Submarines | 160 |
| Sloops (minesweepers) | 33 |
| River Gun-boats | 18 |
| Surveying Ships | 9 |
| Total | 395 |

Our present total is 310. Owing to the simplicity of the ships advocated, and to the moderate speed installed, the personnel needed for such a fleet would be approximately 95,000. Allowing 10,000 over and above those actually manning the ships, men waiting for draft and under training, we should require a total personnel of 105,000 in the Royal Navy, nearly 40,000 less than in 1914 before the outbreak of hostilities.

It is not suggested for a moment that, in total tonnage, this fleet is necessarily the fleet of the future. The size of the Navy must always be affected by the size of European navies. A two-power standard should always be our minimum, though, in view of our world-wide responsibilities, there is a minimum in our cruiser needs which is unaffected by other navies.

Thus, to take an extreme case, if foreign navies were abolished we should still require a considerable cruiser fleet if privateering and piracy are not once again to raise their heads on the High Seas.

I have been careful to emphasise that such a fleet as I have foreshadowed can only come into being gradually. Our existing fleet, shorn right away of a few cases of its more extravagant units, will in any case become obsolete in the not distant future. If the argument in my book is sound, as Admiral Cusance maintains, and our future fleet, in its main outlines, the right one, annual replacements can, in the ordinary course, produce it.

Relative Cheapness.
The Navy, and the Navy alone, can decide whether such a fleet is, in main essentials, the Navy of To-morrow. To laymen its attractions are to be found in its relative cheapness of construction and maintenance. Each individual ship is cheap owing to the exclusion of the most costly features of our later ships—extreme speed. Its maintenance will be relatively cheap, not only on account of its simplicity but because it will not require great shore establishments and a great shore personnel.

Being exclusively coal-burning, the annual cost of its maintenance will be redistributed to the nation as a whole in work and wages. Its material and fuel can be, and therefore should be, exclusively British. Indeed, it is deserving of emphasis that a Navy that is nationally entirely self-supporting and self-sufficient is not so great a drain on national resources as it has become the habit to assume.

It is true that the annual outlay on the Navy is, economically, unproductive, as, indeed, is most other public expenditure, but it is equally true that this annual naval expenditure, if efficiently laid out, is not a high premium to pay for the insurance of the productive activities and freedom of a vast Empire which can obtain true security and defence by no other means.

A numerous Cruiser fleet has always, as a matter of history, coincided with national prosperity and booming trade. Trade needs that security which the Navy alone can provide.

NAVAL PACT.

"THE GREATEST POSSIBLE CONCESSIONS."

BRITISH EFFORTS.

Rugby, Saturday.
A reference to the negotiations for the Naval building agreement was made last night in a speech at Sheffield by the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. A. V. Alexander.
He said that he and the Foreign Secretary, Mr. A. Henderson, had made great efforts to get the adhesion to Part III. of the Naval Treaty by France and Italy. They came back from Paris understanding that the agreement was complete and that there was no question about it. It was not wise, perhaps, for anyone who had to take part in international negotiations at this stage to apportion the blame.

Mr. Alexander continued: "We made the greatest possible concessions we could, and we came away from Paris on March 1 with an agreement which I afterward submitted to the House of Commons on March 12 in which there is to me no ambiguity. In France today questions have been raised at a somewhat late date. I want to say that there will be no efforts lacking on our part to promote that spirit of goodwill essential to secure progress in this direction. But I also want to say that there is going to be no guarantee of success in the progress toward disarmament merely by one country always giving way. If we are going to get a disarmament which is going to be a real aid to peace, it must be the disarmament of all and not of one, and all nations concerned must make equal contributions to the effort.
I can assure you of my continued efforts in this direction, and I can speak for the Prime Minister and the Foreign Secretary. We have also got to think of the general security and condition of our people."—British Wireless Service.

Gold Standard Value.

Whilst rather long for reproduction in its entirety in our columns there is much of interest to us here in the address recently given by Mr. George E.
Roberts, Vice-President of the National City Bank of New York, at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, New York, on the subject of gold and its relation to monetary systems, bank credit, and commodity prices.

Mr. Roberts emphasises, as every banker and every other commercial man must, the value of a common standard. "It must be regarded as fortunate that all of the world is so far agreed upon the value of gold as to be willing to give labour and products in exchange therefor and make it the basis of trade. . . . The common gold standard has given the world a common language of values. A market quotation in the currency of any gold standard country has a definite meaning in the currency of any other gold standard country. You can ship gold coins or bars from any gold standard country to any other gold standard country and they will enter directly into the monetary system of that country at a fixed valuation and this has facilitated the flow of capital round the world. The common gold standard has been and is of immense value in international trade and financial intercourse.
It is not too much to say that the maintenance of the common gold standard is the most co-operative undertaking in the world." In this co-operative movement

Hong Kong has been compelled to stand aloof. China has so far voluntarily stood aloof. Since the war all those countries that had suspended gold payments began to grope their way back to the gold standard as best they could as the best means of establishing trade and financial relations with each other. Had Hong Kong and China been "gold minded" at the same time the history of the trade of Hong Kong and China to-day would have been quite different, and that in spite of the tremendous upheaval created throughout China by the long series of civil wars.

Mr. Roberts combats the argument that the general stabilisation of currencies on a gold basis, with efforts on the part of the countries to increase their stocks of gold, has caused the decline of prices. In regard to the maldistribution of gold he says that although banks may facilitate or discourage gold movements to some extent, their influence is small compared with other influences. The major influences in the distribution of gold are the currents of trade and the flow of investment capital. The position which a country's industries hold in world trade, the attractions which a country offers to foreign investors, or the inclination of a country's investors to place capital elsewhere—these are the influences which finally control.

Discussing the economies in the use of gold Mr. Roberts says that it cannot be doubted that some way will be found to handle an increasing volume of trade and business whether gold production keeps pace or not, but it is of great advantage to have the world united upon a common standard of value. It is to the interests of all people that the normal equilibrium in trade and capital movements shall be maintained. The interests of the people of Hong Kong and the interests of the people of China cannot be safeguarded if both remain outside the gold standard countries. They must remain in a state of unsplendid isolation, unable to co-operate with the rest of the world in effecting international stability of trade and exchange. That is the moral to be gathered from the address of the Vice-President of the National City Bank of New York—the same moral, indeed, that has constantly been most strongly emphasised by every supporter of the gold standard for Hong Kong.

News in Brief.

The lowest open air temperature yesterday was 71 degrees. The humidity was 75 at 10 a.m. and 86 at 4 p.m.

For stealing four pairs of blacksmiths' pliers from the Li Yau Ki matshed at Kowloon Tong, Leung Ching was at the Kowloon Police Court this morning sent to jail for two months. The value of the pliers was $6.

At the meeting of the Sanitary Board to-morrow a minute will be submitted by the President relative to the necessity for submitting to the Board building plans when the authorised type of public convenience is repeated.

The National City Bank of New York courteously send us a copy of an interesting lecture on the Gold Situation, delivered by Mr. George E. Roberts, Vice-President of the Bank, at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Six weeks' imprisonment was imposed on Wong Ngau at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning for the larceny of three brass bolts from a house at No. 554, Nathan Road. Detective-Sergeant Fitches said that a lot of stealing of that nature was going on in Kowloon just now.

man of the committee which reported on transport facilities on the Kowloon peninsula. You also did specially good work in connection with the water crisis in 1929. It is, however, more in respect of your work in Kowloon and the New Territories that you will be best remembered. Kowloon has developed marvellously of recent years and this has entailed considerable work in respect of land sales, exchanges and resumptions. The smoothness with which these have been carried out is in a large measure due to your personality and tact.
Your intimate knowledge of the New Territories and the regard and esteem in which you are held by the Chinese elders and villagers have been of great value to Government.

When you retire from this service, you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have earned not only a reputation for ability and industry in your work but also the affection of all those who have been associated with you. I sincerely congratulate you on the honour conferred upon you.

Miss James.

Addressing Miss N. E. James, superintending sister, Royal Naval Hospital, His Excellency said:— Miss James, it gives me great pleasure to present to you to-day on behalf of His Majesty the King the Order of the Royal Red Cross, Second Class, which has been graciously presented to you in recognition of your long and meritorious service.

You joined Queen Alexandra's Royal Naval Nursing Service nearly twenty years ago in September 1911 and were appointed to the Royal Naval Hospital, Haslar, as a Nursing Sister on probation being confirmed the same year. After serving two years in the Royal Naval Hospital, Plymouth, you have been employed at various Naval Hospitals at home and abroad and were promoted to be Superintending Sister in November, 1929, and appointed to the Royal Naval Hospital, Hong Kong.
You have a very fine record and I heartily congratulate you on the recognition it has received.

Certificates of Honour.

Addressing Messrs. Lo Cheung-shu, Tong Yat-chun, Kwok Siulau, and Tang Pak-kau, His Excellency said:

It is a great pleasure to me to present to you to-day in the name of His Majesty the King, the Certificates of Honour which were awarded to you by me in His Majesty's name on the King's Birthday last year. I regret that the presentation has been so much delayed, but it is in part due to the delay in getting the medals made in England. This is the first award of Certificates of Honour in this Colony. The decoration was instituted with the authority of His Majesty as a recognition of loyal and valuable services rendered to the Colony and to the British Government.
The number is limited and knowing as I do how many residents in Hong Kong have rendered such loyal and valuable services in various ways, I found it by no means easy to make a selection. This fact naturally enhanced the honour conferred upon you.

The services of you all have been outstanding. Three of you have been Justices of the Peace for long periods and have also been directors of the Tung Wah Hospital and Po Leung Kuk and are members of the P.L.K.
Permanent Board of Directors, while two of you have also been members of the District Watch Committee, and one of them is a member of the Tung Wah Hospital Advisory Board.
Mr. Kwok Siu-lau has taken great

MONEY LEFT.

MR. F. J. MCCARTHY'S

R.N. DOCKYARD EMPLOYEE.

Mr. Francis Joseph McCarthy, formerly Chargeman of Smiths in the Royal Naval Dockyard, Hong Kong, who died intestate at the Royal Naval Hospital, on January 7, 1930, left local estate valued at $67,100. Resealing grant of letters of administration has been granted to Mr. M. H. Turner, lawful attorney for Maud Theresa Kashbrook, of "Oakleigh," Potters Lane, Chatham, Kent, who is administratrix. The administratrix was granted letters of administration in the Probate Division of the British High Court in September last.

Mr. McCarthy's mother died in April 17, 1930, before Letters of Administration could be granted to her, the present administratrix thus acting for both estates.

The late Mr. McCarthy, at the time of his death, had been associated with the Hong Kong Royal Naval Dockyard for 22 years.

Mrs. Susan Pocock.
Certified copy of probate in the estate of Mrs. Susan Pocock, a widow, has been granted to Mr.
G. G. N. Tinson, lawful attorney for the executors, Algernon Herbert Masterman, of Bristol, and Rachel Traves Pocock (daughter of testator) of Manor House, Kingsbury, Somerset. Mrs. Pocock died at her residence, the Manor House aforesaid, on June 6, 1929. Her local estate amounts to $30,300, the gross personalty in Britain being $9,127, with net $9,093. Probate was granted in the British High Court, in September last.

By the will, a special legacy is made to Rachel T. Pocock, the residue being divided between testator's daughters, Rachel T. Pocock, Marjorie England Masterman, and Phyllis Mary Wicks, in equal shares.

Mr. Thomas Clark.
Thomas Clark, retired engineer, who died at his residence, Rockville, Millport, Island of Cumbrae, Bute, Scotland, on November 13 last, left local estate valued at $114,000, the total gross value of the estate wherever situated being $9,142. Mr. G. G. N. Tinson, lawful attorney for the trustees, has been granted resealing of testament-testamentary of the trust disposition and settlement of estate.
The trustees are Peter Grant, and Peter Walker, both of Glasgow, and James Wallace, of Millport.

Under the will, a special legacy of $2,500 accrues to the widow, together with the property and effects therein. The residue is to be kept in trust for the widow, except in the event of her re-marriage. Upon her death or second marriage it is to be administered for benefit of testator's family, in terms under the will.

Mr. Tang Pak-kau has been a work and advice in that capacity have been of immense value to Government. On behalf of the Government of this Colony I thank you sincerely for all that you have done and congratulate you most

RIKISHA COOLIE ASSAULTED.

Hit with Umbrella for Asking for Fare!

EUROPEAN ON THE SCENE.

When charged at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning with having assaulted Chau Choi, a rikisha coolie, in Nathan Road at 9.30 a.m. yesterday, Anub Singh pleaded "not guilty."

The coolie stated that the defendant engaged his rikisha and after riding around for about an hour, he started to walk away without paying his fare. When complainant asked for payment the Indian struck him with his umbrella with such force that he was knocked down and the umbrella broken. Complainant blew his police whistle, and the Indian was arrested.

Police Constable G. J. Perkins, who appeared on the scene three minutes afterward, said the defendant was still gripping the umbrella.

Improbable Story.
When questioned, the defendant told a highly improbable story of how the rikisha coolie had tried to snatch some notes from his hand when he was paying his fare, and further alleged that the coolie's injuries were caused by his falling down and striking his head on the railings.

He was ordered to pay $10 compensation to the rikisha man, and fined $5 for the assault, or three weeks' jail.

NATIONS' AMITY.

Under the distinguished patronage of H.E. the Governor (Sir William Peel, K.C.M.G., K.B.E.) and Lady Peel, an International Festival of Folk Dance and song was held in the grounds of the Diocesan Girls' School on Saturday afternoon.

The objects of the festival, as set out in the programme, are to encourage mutual understanding and good fellowship among all races and nationalities. Furthermore, it strives to stimulate interest in the preservation of traditional songs, dances and music.

English folk-dances were given by the girls of the D.G.S. and the St. Andrew's Church Folk-dancers.

"Newcastle," "Ruffy-Tuffy" and "Gathering Peascods" were outstanding numbers of the latter participants, whilst Morris Dances were excellently rendered by the school girls. St. Andrew's Church boy choristers rendered English folk-songs, together with the Scottish Highland Traditional Air.

An Irish Jig was done very skillfully by pupils of Misses D. O'Keefe and W. Henderson, whilst the four B's Quartet rendered Old Irish Songs.

Welsh Items.

Mrs. Esther Hooper was warmly applauded for her rendering of an Old Welsh Song "Bugeilor Gwenith Gwyn." The male choir of the South Wales Borderers pleased the audience with some very fine Welsh Traditional Airs, which included the Welsh National Hymn, and Ar Hyd y Nos (All Through the Night).

The Kowloon Dock dancers, under Pipe-Major Mackie, did the Elchsome Reel and the Highland Fling, also the Scottish Sword Dance.

China Does Its Part.

China's share in the entertainment was provided by the Chin

"Robert, darling—my dear—"
"Dress or hat?"—Buen Humor, Madrid.

Woo Athletic Association Musicians, who gave a selection of Chinese music. A dance by girls of the Young Chung School was splendid, whilst the St. Stephen's College girls were warmly applauded for their Old World Chinese Dance.

Danish folk-songs were given by Mr. Alex Hamre, who sang two numbers, and the Quarry Bay School children delighted with Scandinavian folk-songs, which included "The Burgomaster."

The German Community Choir contributed songs by Schubert and von Schöber. They were, one thinks, the best singers on the programme.

The Cherry Dance, by Miss Yuki Takeda was Japan's contribution, and Mr. E. G. d'Aquino sang two Portuguese folk-songs, these being "If the Roses Know" and "The Royal Hunt." The singer was in splendid form, and earned much applause.

The Sea Scout's contributed the Hornpipe, Donald Paul being in good form with sea shanties.

WHEN THE PROPHET WAS TAKEN BACK.

Applicants for renewal of leases of city property used, says Mr. Sayer, to attend at the bar of the Court of Common Council to answer any questions. Once the applicant was the Rev. Michael Baxter, proprietor of the Christian Herald, a paper that devoted a good deal of space to prophecies as to the early end of the present age.

Mr. T. H. Ellis at once took him in hand. Baxter admitted he was the proprietor and wrote some of his prophetic articles, "that the world would come to an end within the next few years?" "I did," was the reply.

"Then why are you now applying for a 99 years' lease of your property?"

The answer, if any, was completely lost in the laughter which convulsed the Court.

POLICE JAILED.

SERIOUS CHARGES.

Two Shantung Police Constables appeared before Mr. W. Schofield in the Central Police Court on Saturday, on charges of the possession of 25,000 pills containing heroin and, secondly, with misconducting themselves as Police officers.

Mr. P. P. J. Wodehouse, D.S.P., appeared for the prosecution.

Inspector F. E. Booker said, in evidence, that on May 6 (Wednesday) he was on duty on the King Kee Wharf when he noticed two men, one in uniform and the other dressed in plain clothes, walking from the pier. First defendant was carrying a large parcel, and, on tearing a corner of it, Inspector Booker found that it contained tins of pink pills. Defendant maintained they were medicine. Second defendant, who was in uniform, was carrying a smaller parcel, and when questioned as to its contents said that they were cigarettes.

The Proper Course.

First defendant stated that he was carrying the parcel to the Police Station and therefore should not have been detained.

Asked by the Magistrate as to what was the proper course for a piracy guard to take if he found an unclaimed parcel on the ship, Inspector Booker replied that he would have to report either to the Sergeant in charge of the Russian piracy guards or the ship's captain.

First defendant said that there was no Sergeant there, and he could not understand the Captain. Mr. Wodehouse explained that the first defendant was a guard on the s.s. Szechuen, whilst the second defendant, who had been to Shanghai as a guard on another ship, was a passenger on the Szechuen.

The Inspector Forgot. Inspector Booker remarked that there were seven or eight loose packets of cigarettes in second defendant's parcel.

His Worship: A very important piece of evidence that should have been put in.

Inspector Booker: Yes, your Worship, I had forgotten all about the cigarettes.

His Worship convicted both men. Mr. Wodehouse said that first defendant had been fined 50 cents previously for smuggling salt. The case was not regarded as serious then. He was pressing for a heavy penalty, as it was so easy for piracy guards to smuggle, and so hard for the Police to catch them at it.

His Worship imposed a fine of $500 or four months' hard labour in default on each on the first charge, whilst on the charge of misconducting themselves as policemen, his Worship passed sentence of one month's hard labour each.

ROUND THE CINEMAS

"PAID."

American "third degree" takes up a big portion of the action in the talkie "Paid," featuring Joan Crawford, which started its run at the Queen's Theatre yesterday. The picture is, of course, a version of the play "Within the Law," the story of which is too well-known to recount here. Joan is well cast in the role of Mary Turner and has a good supporting cast in the picture, particularly Robert Armstrong as Joe Garson, Marie Prevost as Agnes Lynch, and Kent Douglas as Bob Gilder whom Mary married to revenge Gilder, senior. It is good entertainment and certainly variety from the usual song and dance picture.

Included in the programme is a Hearst Newsreel and an Our Gang comedy entitled "Tough Winter," in which Stepin Fetchit joins the kiddies in their fooling. The story is rather too silly even for "Our Gang."

Should you ever travel in the jungle—don't trust any tiger you might chance to meet. Thus advises Ernest B. Schoedsack, the soldier of fortune cameraman who filmed "Rango" in the primeval wilds of the Sumatra forests. Schoedsack is qualified to speak since he has studied the habits of all big animals—elephants, hippopotami, rhinos, leopards, panthers, and tigers—in his picture-making activities in "Chang," "Grass" and "The Four Feathers."

"The tiger is the supreme killer of all jungle beasts," asserts Schoedsack. "Unlike the lion, he does not kill only when he can eat, but murders for the sheer love of inflicting suffering and terror upon his fellow creatures."

"Fires are little if any protection from the attack of a hungry tiger, which is the only animal known to prowls beyond a blaze in search of food. Unless he is lazy from a recent feast, the striped cat does not try to avoid an encounter with men, but will stalk them through the tall grass awaiting an opportunity to spring."

According to Schoedsack, tiger hunting requires a cool head and perfect marksmanship. Express rifles carrying two 450 calibre bullets are used for this type of hunting, offering the man behind the rifle but two chances to bring down his tiger or meet an unspeakable end.

"The tiger gives you just one fair break, only one," declares Schoedsack. "He crouches for a full two minutes before he springs, bellowing terrifying roars in the hope that the prey will turn his back to escape, thus making the killing a simple matter. During these two precious minutes it is up to the hunter to aim between the eyes or at the chest of the beast and shoot to kill."

"Rango," a picture in which tigers play the parts of villains, comes to the Central Theatre to-day.

"HELL'S ANGELS."

The latest and most perfect sound recording in the history of motion pictures, "Hell's Angels," Howard Houghs' $4,000,000 air spectacle, will open at the Queen's Theatre on Wednesday.

"Hell's Angels" is the first film spectacle in which there are no faded sounds, and so realistic are the audible effects that special electrical equipment and special projectors are required to present the picture effectively on the screen.

Lodge Cunningham, chief of sound on "Hell's Angels," and one of the foremost sound experts in the film business, declares that five times the normal electrical power is required to project "Hell's Angels" on the screen.

Six extra horns are required to reproduce the authentic aeroplane and Zeppelin sounds, and a separate film is used to preserve the quality of the tone throughout the presentation of "Hell's Angels."

"Hell's Angels" is the most lavish and spectacular film production of all time, and required three years to produce.

Ben Lyon, James Hall, Jean Harlow and 20,000 supporting players comprise the cast, and more than 100 true wartime aeroplanes take part in the overhead action of the picture.

It is noted in the Western Canada News Bulletin that production in the following industries in the Prairie Provinces now exceeds $8,000,000—cotton and jute bags; men's furnishing goods; dyeing, cleaning and laundry work; women's factory clothing; hosiery, knit goods and fabric gloves; men's factory clothing; hats and caps; awnings, tents and sails; carpets and other textile industries.

SACRED HEART.

SUCCESSFUL ANNUAL

VALUE OF RECREATION.

Reference to the lack of recreation grounds which hamper the promotion of physical culture, was voiced by Mr. J. S. Shak, founder and head master of the Sacred Heart College, in his address on Saturday, at the close of the annual athletic meeting of the College, which was held on the Kowloon Football Club ground, Chatham Road.

Li Chung-wing, a fine young athlete, won the College Championship with a score of 17 points out of a possible 25, whilst the Class Championship went to Class 2.

The ladies' 100 yards sprint was won by Miss S. Dalziel in great style, whilst Miss Mak Yin-chang was also near at hand in third place. The open half mile went to L. C. Palmer who won from a large field of capable runners. An event which caused much merriment was the 50 yards Obstacle Race, in which the competitors had to run a distance, eat buns suspended from strings without touching with the hand, and then dash to the line.

The prizes were distributed by Mrs. H. T. Crensy, who was afterwards presented with a large basket of flowers, and given three hearty cheers.

WILD NIGHT AT THE ALBERT HALL.

Pandemonium at Soviet Protest Meeting.

GALLERY ROW.

Hundreds of men and women struggling madly in the top gallery . . . the thud of blows . . .
shouting . . . screaming . . . fireworks falling into the body of the hall.

Such was the scene at the Albert Hall a moment after Lord Brentford had risen to open the Trade Defence Union demonstration of protest against "brutalism" in Russian prison camps.

As the ex-home Secretary left his chair, a crowd of men in the topmost tier of the hall rose simultaneously, yelling "Long live the Soviet!"

Pandemonium broke out immediately. Hundreds of stewards—young men who had volunteered their services—seemed to spring from nowhere.

They bore down on the interrupters in a mass, and soon a series of fierce hand-to-hand fights was in progress.

Several of the interrupters were frog marched downstairs and thrown into the street.

Lord Brentford waited until the first "attack" had subsided and then he uttered a warning. "I can assure all in the building that we have ample means of dealing with any persons who attempt to break up this meeting," he said.

"We intend to carry it through."
Mr. Winston Churchill, who sat on the right of the chairman, was stern and thoughtful as he watched the bodies of struggling men away in the misty distance.

Lord Brentford attempted to resume his speech, but he had only uttered a few sentences when the uproar broke out afresh.

Some of the interrupters were women, and as they were bundled out they kicked and screamed.
Clothing was torn off both interrupters and electors.

When Mr. Winston Churchill rose to speak, someone called
"Lai" and another man urged Mr.
Churchill to "go back to the Dardanelles." Others called "Bravo, Winston!"

"Two men and two women behind Mr. Churchill" were carried from their seats. Mr. Churchill stood silent while the hubbub continued, and then said smilingly, "Surely we have a right to protest. This is still our own country."
There was a roar of protest and

THIS YEAR'S ACADEMY PAINTINGS.

Sir J. Lavery and the Premier.

RACE AGAINST TIME.

Secrets of the pictures which famous artists will submit to the Royal Academy this year, were revealed during a tour of the studios round St. John's Wood, Chelsea, and elsewhere.

I learnt, for instance, that Mr.
Augustus John, R.A., is considerably behind with his work, and is having a race against time in an effort to complete three or four portraits before "sending-in" day. In spite of considerable overtime it is doubtful whether all his works will be completed.

The Hon. John Collier will contribute three portraits, one of which, I gather, will cause considerable comment, while Sir John Lavery, R.A., will submit four portraits; two are of Mr.
Ramsay MacDonald, the Prime Minister—thus explaining Sir John's frequent visits to the House of Commons recently.

Mrs. A. L. Swynerton,
A.R.A., held a private view of her paintings to decide which to submit. The favourites were a painting of Chigwell Park, which belongs to Lord Revelstoke, and a painting of a child, standing in water.

Sir Herbert Hughes-Stanton,
R.A., will send in six landscapes painted in the south of France.
Sir Reginald Blomfield, R.A., has done two drawings, one of a building in Leeds and the other of Lambeth Bridge.

It is safe to say, an expert told me, that there will be more portraits in this year's academy than ever before.—"Daily Mail."

other men and women had to be ejected. Mr. Churchill turned round, and speaking above the noise, as he pointed at the people being thrown out, said: "They are miserable hovelings, poor wretches, paid with roubles for making trouble, brought here and forced to do their bit or they do not get their cash. They get a bonus for being thrown out." Five nights began again, and Mr.
Churchill, with clenched fists, exclaimed: "Can't you see from this carefully staged demonstration that there is force, guile, violence and money behind the position?"

INDIA AND AFRICA
AIR ROUTES.

GIANT FLYING BOATS.

Three metal flying-boats weighing 14 tons apiece and driven by four engines developing a total of 2,400 horse power will soon be placed in service on the Mediterranean sections of the Imperial Airways routes to India and Africa.

The new machines have been tested on the Medway River, Kent, and attained a top speed of 130 miles an hour and carried a payload of 7,500 pounds.

When these new machines pass into service they will be the largest British marine-type passenger aircraft yet constructed.

They have been developed from the smaller three-engine "Calcutta" boats, and embody many lessons learned from "Calcuttas" in operation. The "Calcuttas" carry a payload of 4,429 pounds.

The new flying-boats contain seating accommodations for 15 passengers and a large compartment in which there is space for more than 1½ tons of urgent mails. The passenger quarters are fully equipped and have tables placed between each armchair seat and a shaded electric light above each passenger's head.

Engine Noise Reduced.
Engine noise has been reduced to a minimum in the passenger's saloon owing to the use of sound insulating material between the saloon covering and the outer skin of the hull. A feature of the hull structure is the planing bottom of stainless steel, eliminating water corrosion.

Fully laden, each boat weighs more than 13 tons. The cruising speed has been set at 100 miles per hour.

In addition to its passengers, mails and fuel load, each flying boat will carry a pilot, pilot-navigator, wireless operator and steward—the last-named presiding over a refreshment buffet.

The new planes will be named "Scipio," "Satyrus" and "Sylvanus." Just behind the pilot's cockpit, in the front of the hall, there is a wireless compartment with an installation which gives the flying-boat, while in the air, a wireless range of 550 miles. A telescope aerial will also be fitted, enabling the machine to transmit messages when resting on the

With a band of ten other ingly carries on business within the very shadow of empty mills and silent looms. I found the pedlars from the Punjab setting out with laden suitcases to gladden the eye and lighten the purse of the Lancashire countryside, writes a correspondent in a home paper.

"Only leetle Bangleesh," confessed Mahomet Ali when I asked what he was selling. "Sell scarves of seek, of cotton, ankerchief, other tings, but most scarf.
All made in India."

To Stay for a Year.
"How long have you been here?" I asked.

"I am in England tree month," he replied.

I gathered, however, that the party intends to stay for a year.

Out of curiosity I bought a scarf from one of the Indians for half a crown. I took the scarf to a friend in the trade and he told me that a similar article could not be sold in a Bolton shop at less than 7s. 6d.

NEW PARTY IN FRANCE.

Efforts to Combine the Socialists.

M. HERRIOT'S BID.

Students of politics have long realised that France cannot be content with three or four parliamentary groups, writes the Paris correspondent of the Sunday Times. She has now, so many that even politicians are becoming confused that they have a new one in course of formation, the object of which is to unite Radical Socialists, Republican Socialists, under one banner.

Nevertheless, it would appear, after all, that it may further complicate the play of French political parties. It may mean that the left of the Chamber will find that it has hacked out a new party under the name of "Inter-

The idea is quite serious from the parliamentary point of view, since M. Herriot, a former Prime Minister of France, presided over the meeting at which it was launched. The basis of it is that men belonging to the parties of the Left who may still profess Republican ideals should group themselves into one party.

Danger of a Split.

It sounds excellent as a means of simplifying French politics, but in practice it may work out very differently, and may simply add one more section to the existing number, for it was made clear during the meeting that adherence to it was a matter of purely individual decision. The effect may very well be that at least three of the existing parties may be split, deputies from each rallying to the new creation.

Any more subtle complication than the play of parties now in progress in connection with the suggested new group cannot be conceived, for questions were raised as to the eligibility of deputies who had voted for certain short-lived ministries of the past when the French Parliament was doing its very best to prove to the outside world that its real business was to govern the country, and was not second to political intrigues.

In the combination among the parties, one thing which students of French politics may suspect from the present newly formed

MODERN MARVEL.

The Business Efficiency Ex-numerous improvements in apparatus.

There are many types of Brit-it is claimed that they have not only provided the service hith-even farther and perform duties never before visualised.

One machine exhibited by a British firm is that selected by the authorities for the census.
For every man, woman, and child alive at the hour selected a card will be prepared. In every card will be a series of punch-are put into the machine in batches and this almost more than human apparatus not only sorts the cards at the rate of about 20,000 an hour, but produces tables of statistics, grouping the population under every conceivable kind of category.

TORY TREATY WITH PRESS LORDS.

Bid for Food Tax Mandate.

THE PEACE TERMS.

Mr. Baldwin and the Conservative Central Office have made a treaty of peace with the Press Lords, states the Daily News Lobby correspondent.

Lord Beaverbrook, head of the Empire Crusaders, with it is understood, the assent of Lord Rothermere, founder of the United Empire Party, has come to terms with Mr. Baldwin's ambassador, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, and the peace is expected to be ratified immediately.

The correspondence which has passed and which is given below demonstrates, according to Conservative spokesmen, how slight is the difference between Lord Beaverbrook's policy and Mr. Baldwin's.

And so they are going to shake hands and work together in future. There will be no more Empire Free Trade candidates in the by-elections and the Central Office will presumably be spared criticism.

The agreement, which is the work of Mr. Neville Chamberlain, chairman of the Conservative organisation, is in the nature of a compromise, each side admitting that it was not absolutely right about Empire fiscal policy and each making some concession to the other.

It has been agreed, however, that the concessions shall not be mentioned, each making some concession to the other.

It has been agreed, however, that the concessions shall not be mentioned, each side pretending that the other has retained the policy whole and unaltered. It was not found easy to get agreement to this.

But the plain fact is that whatever form of words has been adopted, the Conservative Party is gradually whittling away the safeguards the electors have had against the imposition of wholesale Protection.

Mr. Baldwin will not insist on a "free hand." He will be content to have it tied to Protection.

Mr. Chamberlain has always been keen to secure agreement with Lord Beaverbrook. As soon as he took office as chairman of the Party organisation he had a secret meeting with the Chief Crusader but nothing came of it. He was not discouraged, however, and the present arrangement is the result.

It is particularly satisfactory from his point of view, for what- ever the terms of agreement, it in fact, splits the ranks of the Press Peers.

It is generally agreed that a lasting agreement between Lord Rothermere and Mr. Baldwin is impossible; personal feeling between the two men is too great.

I gather that Mr. Baldwin will take an early opportunity to expound his latest policy.

The fact that Lord Beaverbrook's candidates have robbed official Tories of some thousands of votes in recent by-elections may not have been entirely absent from the minds of the Central Office in reaching this conclusion.

Conservative Statement.

The following statement was issued from the Conservative Central Office.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain invited Lord Beaverbrook to state the terms on which he would be prepared to support the Conservative policy.

"Lord Beaverbrook wrote on March 27.

"I have consistently endeavoured to persuade the Conservative Party to press for the greatest attainable measure of Empire Free Trade, or, if you prefer, Empire economic unity.

"To this end I would welcome the opportunity of working in agreement with you.

"May I be assured that the programme of the Conservative Party, as it stands to-day proposes to develop a policy of increasing, not only manufacturing production, but also of increasing wheat and general agricultural production at home, and that it will seek to achieve this policy by the most efficient and practicable method, that is to say, by quotas, prohibitions-of, or duties on, foreign food-stuffs?

"It is well-known that I hold to the opinion that duties on foreign foodstuffs are the most effective methods of dealing with the need for increasing production at home.

"Nevertheless, I recognise that the quota system and prohibitions have advantages in relation to increased production of some food-stuffs in Britain.

"If the Conservative Party is prepared, at the next election, to ask for a mandate to put all or any of these methods into efficient operation in the interests of British agriculture, I for my part will do everything I can to help to carry the programme to fulfilment.

"I have consulted some of my prominent friends and supporters who agree with me that such a basis on which we may rebuild prosperity for British agriculture and open up the outer Empire for the extension of Imperial trade, demands every effort, and every sacrifice which it is in our power to make.

"The cause is infinitely greater than the quarrel."

Mr. Neville Chamberlain replied.

"I have received your letter with great pleasure.

"I have discussed its terms with Mr. Baldwin and he authorises me to say that you have correctly stated the present Conservative policy in regard to agriculture. It is his intention to employ for the development of home agricultural production all, or any, of the methods you enumerate, as they may best effect the object aimed at; and to ask the electors for a mandate for that purpose.

"Accordingly, I am glad to think that we shall have the co-operation of yourself and your friends in our task, and I welcome your support."

The statement ended with a letter from the chairman of the Agricultural Party, formed by Norfolk farmers, approving the agreement, "which," the letter added, "incorporates everything that the Norfolk movement has advocated for some time past."

How The Pact Was Made.

Mr. J. F. Wright, explaining the part played by the Norfolk Agricultural Party, of which he is chairman, told a reporter:

"I was invited by Lord Beaverbrook to get my colleagues of the Agricultural Party to attend at Stornoway House, Lord Beaverbrook's London house, on Friday morning.

"We then went into the question of Lord Beaverbrook's letter with its special reference to agricultural policy.

"At four o'clock Mr. Neville Chamberlain met the executive of the Party and an agreement was reached as to the position.

"Following a further conversation in which Lord Beaverbrook joined us, we agreed to the position as stated in Lord Beaverbrook's letter."

The Agricultural Party's programme is based mainly on the taxation of imported food.

An Agricultural Advisory Board has been formed for the Carmarthen district in which two members were appointed by each of the three municipal councils, one by each of the three agricultural societies, and one by the town of Carmarthen, making a board of ten. The appointed members met with N. C. McKay of the extension service, and J. A. Johnston, local agricultural representative, the other day and drafted an outline for the coming year.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 10.

The Golden Text was: "If a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself." (Galatians 6; 3.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son then an heir of God through Christ." (Galatians 4; 6, 7.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will reopen with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfallen, upright, pure, and free." (p. 171.)

URNS DOWN COMMAND PERFORMANCE.

ROYAL INDIGNITY.

London, Saturday.
 Charlie Chaplin will not appear at the Royal Command performance of variety artistes in the London Palladium on Monday. This was definitely announced to-day.

This honour to the music hall world has been much appreciated by the profession for some years and has been regularly attended by Their Majesties the King and Queen. This year there will be no exception in spite of the King's recent illness.

Director's Explanation.

The Director of the Palladium, in an interview, said that he cabled Charlie Chaplin twice, namely, on April 24 and April 25, requesting his appearance and intimating that it was a Command performance.

Charlie Chaplin only replied to-day from Juan les Pins:—

Very sorry; cannot appear at the Palladium. Have made it a principle never to appear on the stage since I have been associated with the screen. Will you accept a donation for your worthy cause? Hoping you have the success you deserve.

Unprecedented.

The Director was most surprised at Chaplin's refusal, describing it as unprecedented. He said that foreign artistes at previous Command performances sometimes cancelled their passages home in order to perform before their Majesties.—Reuter.

Crowds Greet Royalty.

Rugby, Saturday.
 The Court to-day left Windsor Castle, where it has been since early April, for Buckingham Palace. Their Majesties proceeded to London by road and were greeted at Buckingham Palace by a large crowd.—British Wireless Service.

BABY CARS.

GREAT SPEED SURPRISES EXPERTS.

Rugby, Saturday.
 When the second stage of the "Double Twelve" International Automobile Race started at Brooklands this morning the British baby cars, which surprised the handicappers and other experts by the amazing speed maintained through yesterday's twelve hours' run, were in a very favourable position. Even when heavy rain made driving difficult, they continued to lap hour after hour at only a little under 70 miles an hour, sometimes exceeding that speed.

In accordance with the rules of the race all the cars had been locked up during the night, and no work was allowed on them until after the starting signal this morning.

One of the team of "M. G. Midget" cars, driven by Lord March and Mr. Standland, continued to lead, two other M.G.'s following, with the "Baby Austins" not far behind.

The Italian "Maserati" car, driven by the Italian ace, Campioni, and Mr. Eyston, from which much was expected, broke an axle late last night and is out of the race.—British Wireless Service.

CUSTOMS UNION.

COMPROMISE BETWEEN FRANCE AND GERMANY.

London, Yesterday.
 The possibility of a Franco-German compromise with regard to the projected Austro-German Customs union is indicated in Paris and Berlin messages.

A Paris telegram outlines the French alternative plan, based on what may be described as an International Agricultural Bank, for which the industrial countries of north-western Europe will supply the capital in order that it may be lent to agricultural countries in south-eastern Europe, on the security of their land and crops, so as to make sales possible in the present state of the world markets.

The lending countries will also undertake to absorb a certain proportion of the produce which is at present a surplus. This will involve the creation of preferential tariff notes by the purchasing countries.

A report from Berlin states that the Foreign Minister, Dr. Curtius, in a speech said the Austro-German delegations at Geneva would welcome all other proposals and plans for restoring the health of European economic life, and co-operate intensively therein. He regretted the so-called French counter plan had not been made available to the German Government, as obviously it had been to other Governments.—Reuter.

SPANISH COMEDY.

BATTLESHIP CREW ANNOYED.

Ferrol, Spain, Saturday.
 The whole crew of the Spanish battleship Jaime I. have been arrested for mutiny. The crew last night marched in a body to the town hall and protested to the Mayor with regard to the "high-handedness" of the second officer, and the quality of their food aboard.

The Mayor wired to the Government in Madrid about the incident, and as a result the crew were arrested.—Reuter.

PROMOTION FOR FRANK MITCHELL.

Rugby, Saturday.

[Mr. Frank Herbert Mitchell, C.B.E., M.V.O., was born in 1878, being the son of the late Mr. R. A. H. Mitchell, Esq. He served under Lord Milner in South Africa, 1901-4; was Assistant Director of the Official Press Bureau, 1915-1919; and became Press Secretary at Buckingham Palace in 1920. He played golf for Oxford from 1898 to 1901 and three times for England against Scotland.]

ROYAL TOUR.

JAPANESE PRINCE AND WIFE IN CANADA.

Niagara Falls, Yesterday.
 Prince and Princess Takamatsu have arrived from Toronto in conclusion of their tour of Eastern Canada. They saw the famous falls by night, specially illuminated with coloured artificial lights. Their Highnesses are leaving for Detroit to-day.—Reuter.

WAR DEBTS.

OPEN FOR RE-EXAMINATION.

Washington, Yesterday.
 A momentous decision has been taken by the International Chamber of Commerce, which has formally recorded its conviction that the subject of war debts should be open for re-examination. It pointed out that the integrity of obligations was fundamental for the maintenance of international credit and the expansion of commerce.

The resolution says: "The observance of this principle, however, is not inconsistent with an impartial examination of the effects of these obligations upon international trade, if warranted by changed economic conditions."

The conference also passed a resolution in favour of the reduction of armaments, governmental expenditure, the removal of trade barriers, and giving freedom to private business enterprise.—Reuter's American Service.

UNREST IN JAPAN.

MINERS ADOPT A NOVEL METHOD.

Tokyo, Saturday.
 A novel method of remaining underground was adopted by 200 strikers at the Takano mine in Kyushu who refused to come up, though they sent out their women workers to declare their intention of staying below till their demands were granted. Their families are bringing them food and bed clothes.

The trouble started at the Urume mine at Fukuoka, following the discharge of some workers. Sympathetic strikers number 800, and are expected to increase to 4,000 shortly. The affair will possibly develop into a general strike involving the whole of the Kyushu mines, employing 120,000 miners.

It is learned that the strikers are planning to destroy the pits. The Police raided their headquarters this morning and arrested fifty leaders, also seizing a large number of bamboo spears and clubs.

Dockyard Discharges.
 One thousand workers have been discharged from the Yokohama Dockyard Company. Liberal allowances were made, and there is no sign of unrest.—Reuter.

UNEQUAL TREATIES

THE 21 DEMANDS.

Nanking, Saturday.
 The Peoples' Convention reached a dramatic climax this morning when the entire body of more than 600 delegates rose like one man to support a motion for the immediate abolition of unequal treaties. For several minutes the auditorium was filled with shouting.

To-day was selected for the introduction of the motion because it is the anniversary of the presentation of Japan's "notorious twenty-one demands."—Reuter.

A careful estimate based on a survey made by the Press, fixes the annual commodity sales in the Greater Vancouver retail buying area (i.e. within a 37 mile circle) at $215,282,968, or a purchase of $500 annually.
